

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE:

An extension bar having at one end a generally L-shaped form of a handle, and at the opposite end of the extension bar a headblock is formed therefor receiving a wrench head, and a head portion with notches is formed thereon for receiving one of both indented openings formed thereupon top surface of an adapter being configured therefor receiving a straight wrench, and which is capable of rotating to allow the wrench to loosen or tighten nuts or bolts head in locations where are difficult to reach with the wrench.